

Vendors and Manufacturers of Water Conservation Devices/Services

The Southwest Florida Water Management District has prepared this list using the best information available to us. The District accepts no responsibility for the direct, indirect, or incidental consequences of any errors or omissions. This list may be incomplete, and will change as time goes on. The District does not solicit or accept fees from any manufacturer, vendor or consultant and does not advertise for, or make any claims regarding the performance or characteristics of particular products or services. Many of these products may be available at local hardware outlets and be installed with little difficulty.
