All living things need water to live.